                 (Jury starts deliberating at 9:36 a.m.)
 2
                 (On the record with counsel via phone at 4:26 p.m.
 3
       Defendants and jury not present.)
                 THE COURT: Counsel, good afternoon. Can I get a roll
 4
 5
       call?
 6
                 MR. HANLON: For the record, Rob Harding and Mike
 7
       Hanlon.
                 MS. RHODES: For Mr. Mitchell, Laura Kelsey Rhodes
 8
 9
       here.
10
                 MR. LAWLOR: Mike Lawlor.
11
                 MR. MARTIN: Gerry Martin and Paul Flannery are here.
12
                 MR. CROWE: For Mr. Martin, Jim Pyne and Tom Crowe are 13
       here.
14
                 MR. COBURN: Barry Coburn.
                 THE COURT: All right. We only have Mr. Coburn for Mr.
15
16
       Gardner. That's fine, Mr. Coburn.
17
                 Here's the note we got approximately an hour ago, 18
       counsel. Juror Number Ten will be on Thanksgiving holiday, 19
       travel, through Tuesday, December 2nd, as was communicated 2.0
       earlier to the court. Will jury deliberations recommence
       Wednesday, December 3rd? We wish to break today at 1630 hours.
2.1
       4:30.
22
23
                 So what I propose to do to avoid having to bring all of 24
       you back to the courtroom is to do something, frankly, that I 25
       don't know that I've ever done, and that is to excuse the jury in writing rather than in person.

So let me read to you the letter that I propose to have Belinda hand to each juror. I've photocopied twelve, I've made 12 copies so that each juror will get one copy of this letter on my letterhead. And it reads as follows, under today's date:

Ladies and gentlemen, you are now excused from deliberations until next Wednesday, December 3rd, 2008. Please report, as always, no later than 9:30 a.m. on that date. The routine for lunch and outdoors break will remain the same next week as it has been this week. All exhibits and other material will be secured during your absence.

During this long recess, adhere faithfully to my instructions. One, do not discuss the case, the evidence, the deliberations, or any other aspect of these proceedings with anyone;

Two, avoid any media reports about the case from any source whatsoever;

Three, conduct no investigation of any kind, including online, oral, or otherwise, nor are you to consult any book, magazine or other source of information in connection with your service as a juror;

Four, do not visit any sites or locations mentioned in the evidence;

And finally, five, do not speak to any fellow juror, including alternates, once you leave the courthouse this afternoon. Enjoy your Thanksgiving and return to us safe and refreshed next Wednesday, December 3, 2008. Very truly yours.

Is there any objection to my handing this into the jury room through Ms. Arrington and excusing the jury at this time?

MR. HANLON: Not from the government, Your Honor.

MS. RHODES: None from Mr. Mitchell.

MR. MARTIN: None from Mr. Harris.

MR. CROWE: None from Mr. Martin.

MR. COBURN: And none from Mr. Gardner, Your Honor.

THE COURT: All right. All of counsel have agreed that we can proceed in this manner. I think it makes perfect sense. Of course, we're all a little bit nervous by this duration of a recess, but we can only hope that all is well. I do intend to have Ms. Arrington call each of the alternates within the next hour or so to notify them that they are still subject to recall and to adhere to all of my instructions.

Counsel, have a wonderful Thanksgiving and we'll look forward to talking to each other next Wednesday at the latest.

MR. MARTIN: Your Honor, Mr. Martin. With your permission, I'm going to be out of town next Wednesday. Mr. Flannery will be here and I'll be available by phone if I'm needed.

THE COURT: Absolutely, Mr. Martin. Enjoy your anniversary celebration.

MR. MARTIN: Thank you, Your Honor.

                 THE COURT: Mr. Lawlor, I believe you'll be back by 3

                 MR. LAWLOR: I will be, Your Honor.
                 THE COURT: Excellent. Be safe, folks. We'll see you 4
 5
       next week.
